

Having had XM radio for over 2 years, my wife and myself really enjoy the Idea of traveling from one place to another and have the ability to listen to any XM station we might want to. If our desire is to travel to a town down the road and we want to get an idea as to what the weather conditions might be later the same day it's nice to know we can go to our XM radio and probably get the info we need so we can anticipate the conditions and make our plans. With the limited radio broadcast range of Standard AM and FM Stations, it is hard to rely on any reception down the road. With XM all we have to do is be away from a bridge or underpass and we can usually get reception. Use your heads and stop complaining about what Somebody can offer and you can't.

This is America, free enterprise is at its' best. Learn to live with it. Get off our favorite form of entertainment while on the road.
